From Down Under to the Frozen North: Some International Comparisons of Medical Education for Rural Practice

Geoff Tesson, Ph.D.

Senior Research Fellow
Centre for Rural and Northern Health Research Laurentian University

This presentation focuses on how some medical schools in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the US attempt to meet the needs of rural medical practice. The study is based on a series of in-depth interviews conducted with senior academic officials with key responsibilities for rural medical education.

Geoffrey Tesson earned his Ph.D. in sociology at the University of Oregon and taught sociology and human development at Laurentian University since 1971. Serving as Laurentian University's Vice President-Academic from 1996 and, subsequently, as the Executive Director of Health Initiatives, Geoff led Laurentian's efforts to establish the Northern Ontario Medical School. He is now a Senior Research Fellow at the Centre for Rural and Northern Health Research. His research focus is on the role of medical education in meeting the health human resource needs of northern and rural populations.

This seminar will be video-conferenced, with technology provided by NORTH Network.

This free seminar is open to all interested persons
